

FIRST FLOOR PLAN for the proposed new fire station for the Frankfort fire district.

Toll Authority Demands Snarl FAI-80 Project

If the people of Will county and those portions of Cook county that will be served by the transcontinental highway, FAI-80 would expedite completion of the job, according to various agencies interested in the project, they will bring pressure to bear on Governor Kerner to break the deadlock involving the toll commission, the state highway department and the federal government.

The tollway people, it was brought out, are endeavoring to grab control of a section of FAI-80 and charge toll for its use despite the fact that it would be built by state and federal money. The tollway is not a taxing body and has no right to public funds, it was pointed out, but the commission insists that if Route 80 is to hook up with the tollroad at East Hazel Crest it must have the right to install a toll gate and exact payment from those who use the mile and a half stretch between Hazel Crest and the Indiana line.

The government, thru its officials, has declared that under law it cannot spend any money to build a road for a toll commission, and it will not spend any for such purpose. The only way the toll commission can win the right to charge toll on this disputed section of FAI-80 is by building a mile of the road, a government spokesman was quoted. The tollway says it can't do this because it doesn't have the money.

Those familiar with the situation contend that the matter could be settled in short order by Gov. Kerner, which is why they suggest that people interested in getting FAI-80 completed bring pressure to bear at Springfield, in the area members in the general assembly as well as the governor.

Congressman Edward Derwinski made this report on the matter in a letter to Mrs. Margaret Loeb, Orland Park real estate operator and active there in civic affairs.

Derwinski took the question of pushing work on FAI-80 up with the administrator of the federal highway system. The government cannot participate in the construction east of the proposed location of federal aid interstate highway 57 (this would be a continuation of the Brennan highway) between Central and Cicero avenues, Derwinski learned, since the principal function of this section would be an approach to the toll road between Hazel Crest and the Calumet Expressway, FAI-90. There are no toll booths on this section at this time, it was explained, but the toll authority has announced its intention of locating toll gates thereon and also locate toll gates on the connecting ramps at Hazel Crest.

Conceivably the work could be held up until 1972—the year when the program is to be finished according to the set up in the law. The federal aid interstate program was set up originally as a defense measure. To speed use of FAI-80 a large part of the eastern leg is channeled along tollways and the part that passes thru Indiana is largely toll road. If one wants to go to Detroit or other points in Michigan he could hookup with freeways east of Hazel Crest without payment of toll the way the federal people want it but the Illinois toll commission wants to be paid, it was pointed out.

Engineers were shooting for completion of FAI-80 right up to the tollroad at Hazel Crest. It was expected that the grading and the building of overpasses would be finished in 1963 and the paving done in 1964.

Communities along U.S. 30 from Chicago Heights west to Joliet display considerable concern over any delay in completion of FAI-80. U.S. 30 is bogging down under the heavy load that the building up of this region has occasioned, it was pointed out.

Large mercantile ventures, such as the Korvette discount house now being constructed at Crawford ave. and U.S. 30, and the Sears-Roebuck store to be at Park Forest will create a tremendous volume of truck traffic as well as passenger car traffic and a large volume of the burden is likely to fall on town and county roads, it was said.

Communities interested in attracting light industry to the area may run into the situation where housing developers will have taken over most of the available land, planner say. The reason for this, they point out, is that industry will hold back from committing itself unless it has some assurance of adequate transportation facilities. Cost of shipping in raw material or component parts, added to the cost of getting the finished products out of the plants are a big factor, it was explained. Householders, on the other hand are not likely to give this angle much consideration.

FAI-80 and other federal aid interstate highways will perform an important function in breaking up traffic and promoting industrial development, it was declared.

Roberta Wins D.A.R. State Essay Contest

Roberta Lang, seventh grade pupil at Mokena's Carpenter street school whose essay, "The Trail of the Savage," was a winner in the contest conducted by the DesPlaines Valley of the D.A.R. and the Mokena Book club, has been selected as the state winner by the D.A.R. for seventh graders.

This makes Roberta eligible to compete in the national contest conducted by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Her fellow students as well as her teachers are elated over Roberta's success, and naturally so are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lang. Word that Roberta had won the state contest was received by Mrs. Leo Marcoux, historian of DesPlaines chapter. Roberta's prize for winning the state contest is a book dealing with history.

Frankfort Fire Dist. Plans To Build Own Engine House

The Frankfort fire protection district will have a new fire house that will enable it to keep all their equipment under cover this year if the voters approve a bond issue in a special election March 30.

The bond issue is for $130,000 and will provide the funds necessary to acquire the site and build the engine house, according to the committee in charge of the undertaking.

The present building used as a headquarters by the fire department is a part of the village hall. The village does not charge the department any rent but the department does not have the space it requires and the village government is also in need of more room and has notified the fire district to that effect.

By some magic touch, observers say, firemen have managed to crowd two pumpers and a panel truck used as an emergency vehicle into a space that was intended for two cars. There was no room, however, for the water tank trunk under cover and so that it stands out in all weather. In cold weather, firemen say, this presents a problem because that tank must be kept drained to prevent freezing. This means that each time there is need for extra water—and that is nearly always if there is a home or barn blaze—the tank must be filled. This causes a delay that could be unfortunate for property owners, it was pointed out, and the tank itself shows effects of weathering.

Overcrowding of its garage space has prevented firemen, they stated, from giving the equipment proper maintenance, even appearance maintenance.

The trustees of the district, Herbert Lambrecht, Harold Scgeer and Albert Swatek, have taken an option to buy a site for the proposed fire house that is 130 by 330 feet. It fronts on Nebraska street, bounded on the west by Locust st. and at the rear by Joliet st. This is one of three pieces considered and the trustees say it is the best and its purchase price is less by 50% of one piece and 34% of the other.

Establishing an engine house there will give the department freedom of movement in any direction and without interference by railroads because of the underpasses on U. S. 45.

The trustees believe that the building must not only serve present needs but should also include those of the foreseeable future. According to the architects plans the building will be 68 by 70 feet with the street floor providing space for six pieces of equipment, entrance to a hose tower (where hose is dried after use and because hose comes in 50-foot lengths such a tower must be a bit higher) an office and other rooms as may be seen on the drawing that is on this page. There will be a large meeting room on the second floor 48 x 68 feet and other rooms. It is envisioned that when the day comes that Frankfort will have paid firemen a part of this room at least can be partitioned off for a dormitory.

The architects are quoted by the building committee as saying the proposed fire house will cost an estimated $10 per square foot which would bring it up to around $95,000.

"Our plans do not include any frills," the committee states in a brochure it will circulate thruout the district, "but they do exceed current absolute requirements for space inasmuch as we feel that we should only build this fire station once to serve the future

Frankfort fire district.

As to the cost to taxpayers to retire such a bond issue the trustees point out that will be governed by the actual cost of the improvement, the interest rate at which the bonds are marketed and the assessed valuation of the district.

They say that if the bonds are sold at 3 1/2% and the assessed valuation if $14,500,000 the levy required to retire the bonds would be 83 cents per $1,000 of valuation with a reduction of 61 cents by 1970. If the valuation goes up the rate will come down, it was stated.

There will be four polling places for the election March 30. The first will be the Frankfort village hall; No. 2 is Ann Rutledge school, 80th ave., Lincoln Estates; No. 3 is the Green Garden town hall and No. 4 will be the Arbury Hills school.

Mokena Board Studies Water Improvements

Extension of water mains in areas now supplied by make-shift lines and improvements to the water system, including repairs on the storage tank and installation of a chlorinator and a master meter at the well at an estimated cost of $52,000 is under consideration by the Mokena village board.

At the meeting of the board last week trustees talked with the representative of Columbian Securities relative to the issuance of revenue bonds to cover the improvement. Further talks are to be had before the board will be in possession of definite figures.

Ralph Yunker, village engineer, estimated that the extension of the mains would bring about 10 new water users who would increase the water revenues about $500 a year.

There was also some discussion of the proposed Warren Peters subdivision off U.S. 30 and Wolf road. The board agreed that such a subdivision would have to conform with the subdivision ordinance and there could be no deviation. This was the recommendation of the plan commission. The subdivision would be within the mile and a half limit and so would be required to get approval of the village board, it was explained.

There was some talk as to how this area could be annexed to the village. Village Attorney Galowich told the board that the village should encourage annexation. He also said that if there were to be annexations the board should be prepared to launch some improvements under special assessments. This would necessitate the village setting up a public benefit tax, Galowich explained, so it could participate in the cost of the improvements undertaken.

In Joliet, for example, special assessments are seldom used but when they are the city stands about 25% of the cost, the figures show.

Mayor Swanberg asked for a motion to direct Galowich to draw an ordinance which would provide for a special benefits tax.

Engineer Yunker said that an additional source of water, sufficient water main extension and the status of the fire department relative to equipment were the principal factors considered in fixing insurance rates and suggested this be given thought. Mokena now has a Class 8 rate. Recently Frankfort was given a Class 7 classification for commercial and industrial buildings but it is still Class 8 as far as dwellings are concerned. Insurance is cheaper under Class 7 and Class 8, it was explained.

Trustee Will Tuttle reported that Bert Gibson has proven quite satisfactory as a policeman and recommended that he be hired as chief for a salary of $400 a month. The recommendation was approved. Tuttle also reported that auxiliary police were on standby duty at all times now and that another school crossing guard should be hired.

Tuttle also suggested that Mokena follow Frankfort's example and endeavor to expand the toll free calling area of the local telephone subscribers. There have been attempts made earlier to get Mokena in the Joliet free calling area but no concerted effort was made.

Trustee Tuttle also asked the question of whether the fire siren should sound at curfew time. The consensus of opinion was there was no reason for it so curfew no longer will be heralded by a siren blast.

Someone on the sidelines remarked that it shouldn't make any difference anyway because no one had ever paid any attention to the curfew ordinance anyway.

Frankfort Grade School Pay Scale Gets Boost

At its regular monthly meeting on Monday, March 4, the Frankfort school board offered a revised teachers salary schedule, effective for the school term beginning in September 1963.

To meet the new base salary of $4900 (the current base salary is $4500) for beginning degree teachers, the present faculty members will be put on a two-step schedule.

In common terms, this means teachers will receive a portion of the new scale beginning with the 1963 term and will receive the balance beginning with the 1964 term. It was mutually agreed by the board administration and faculty that this would ease the financial factor of meeting the new schedule.

Frankfort is joining with elementary schools in the Lincoln-Way area that are trying to offer a schedule that will retain and attract qualified teaching personnel, as the needs arise.

In other business, a report given by the principal, Le Roy Wright, concerning the joint transportation effort between Frankfort and Mokena for students requiring special education was discussed. A local resident was included in the discussion on the topic of transportation.

Representatives of the Weitenhoff school also attended the meeting to discuss factors involving the possible re-organization of districts 154 and 157C.

WILL OPEN BIDS

Bids of the addition to Orland Center school are to be opened in the Orland Park grade school at the regular board meeting at 8 p.m. March 27. Drawings and specifications may be had at the architectural firm of Alexander, Borkon, Westphal and DeYoung, North Ottawa st., Joliet.

MOKENA GIRL HONORED by National Headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in recognition for her volunteer services in the Tinley Park State hospital, Patricia Murphy (right) has put in more than 400 hours there (150 hours are required to receive the pin). The presentation of the pin was made by Mrs. Lois Burkett, head of the Woman's Auxiliary of William Martin post, VFW. Putting in hours at the Tinley hospital by Miss Murphy is something like a postman going for a walk in his leisure time. Miss Murphy is regularly employed now as a nurses aide at St. James hospital, Chicago Heights. She also is attending an IBM training school at Chicago. Miss Murphy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Murphy, 11047 McGovney st., and was graduated from Lincoln-Way high school last year. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

Business Manager Plan Warms Up At New Lenox

The question of hiring someone to serve the village of New Lenox as a business overseer or manager which was first aired at a meeting last month was discussed at some length at the regular session of the village board on Wednesday of last week but without any decision.

Trustee Robert Randolph voiced outright opposition to the proposal and Trustee Eugene Hunt, who is a candidate for mayor in the current election favored taking more time to study the situation believed that the same effects could be produced by personnel now in village service as thru employment of an overseer or business manager.

Mayor Stanley Gilmore, who is a candidate for re-election, has been an advocate for the manager deal, pointing out that he could attend to many details now unattended and that he would not only be of considerable service to the people but he believed that such a person could effect a substantial savings in the operation of the village government.

In a memorandum he sent to all members of the village board Mayor Gilmore suggested that a manager could serve as purchasing agent, keep payroll records, keep a check on insurance coverage, maintain an ordinance file, make up an agenda for each board meeting with a summary of the work coming up and the action required, dispatch sewer and water crews in time of emergencies, issue permits, follow up delinquent sewer accounts, check periodically to see that all real estate in the village is on the tax books and would also assist the Association of Commerce in preparing data with the idea of attracting business and industry to the village.

"We seem to be outgrowing the old fashioned situation where all details of village operation could be carried on successfully by a group of relative amateurs operating on a parttime basis", Gilmore declared in his memorandum.

Such a man it was stated would relieve the village clerk, an elected official, and the village treasurer (appointive) of a number of their duties and also slash their pay because of this lightening of duties. Each of these officers now is to receive $900 a year. The clerk gets $800 as clerk and $100 as secretary to the plan commission. The business manager would cost somewhere around $2,500 the mayor said.

After a long discussion Trustee Evans Drotts made a motion to have the mayor appoint a committee to interview applicants for the position of business manager and report back at the April meeting on their qualifications. Hunt and Randolph voted against the motion with Drotts and Trustees Chester Bowman and Eugene McGowney for it. Both Randolph and Hunt declined to serve on the committee and Gilmore named Bowman, McGowney and Trustee Don Anderson who was unable to be at the meeting last week.

An ordinance was adopted annexing the property of Mrs. Mildred Greenman on N. Cedar rd. The property was an island, completely surrounded by village.

Village Attorney William Penn had an ordinance prepared covering peddlers but no action was taken because of the problem of distinguishing between nuisance type solicitors and those like milkmen, newspaper distributors, insurance representatives and others who have routine door-to-door contacts as part of their regular business.

Also discussed was a proposal to allow those persons who have not paid their $150 fees for connecting their property to the sewer system to do so on an installment basis. Trustee Bowman, who made the suggestion, suggested that property owners who have connected with the sewer since Sept. 1, 1961 and have not paid the connection fee be permitted to pay it off at the rate of $10 a month which would be $30 on a quarterly basis.

These books will augment the library's permanent collection of 2,124 circulating books and 240 non-circulating books. Also in the library are three sets of encyclopedias - World Book, Britannica and the Golden Encyclopedia.

Included in the permanent collection are only 280 children's books and 95 youth books. In view of the fact that children out-number adults, four to one, in using the library it can be readily seen the necessity for additional children's books.

Any individual or organization in the area wishing to donate books, should get in touch with Mrs. Beatrice Olson, librarian at 479-5268.

The youth group of Immanuel Lutheran church will be conducting a paper drive on Saturday, March 16. Anyone having papers to contribute to the drive may bring them to the church on Saturday afternoon.

Emancipation For The Railroads In Sight

We were glad to see President Kennedy suggest to Congress last week that some legislation is needed to cure some of the ills that now beset transportation media, particularly the railroads.

The railroads, which have played a key role in the development and prosperous progress of this nation, have for a long time been victims of discriminatory legislation and regulation.

We do not own any railroad stock nor do we have any family members employed by the railroads. We just believe they have been treated unfairly and that they deserve a better fate than to go broke or become government owned. Therefore, we are glad to see the President speak up in their behalf.

One of the proposed bills would eliminate government prescribed minimum fares for inter-city passenger travel by rail, air or bus.

Railroads would also be exempt from minimum rate schedules now imposed on bulk items, farm and fishery products. Water carriers are exempt now from such rate-fixing on bulk shipments; truck lines are exempt from such minimum rates on farm and fishery products. The present system, the President points out, discriminates against the railroads by exempting competing carriers from minimum rates.

Other legislation advocated by the President would make domestic trunk airlines ineligible for subsidies; make truck lines pay reparations to shippers charged illegally high rates; compel private shippers to comply with the safety regulations which now apply to truck and bus lines; repeal the law against railroads shipping commodities in which they have an interest. Relative to banning domestic trunk airlines from receiving they don't get any now, it was explained.

Unless Congress acts, the President says, "We face serious problems of dislocation and deterioration in both the transportation industry and the economic life of the nation."

It was one thing to regulate the railroads when they had a monopoly in the transportation field but distinctly another now when they are facing stiff competition in freight handling from the truck lines, the airlines and the water carriers.

The airlines and the use of the private automobile have dealt the railroads a fearful blow when it comes to hauling passengers. There are many railroads now seeking ways to get out of the passenger business.

It is the fashion to speak slightly of the railroads as a means of carrying passengers, and many now rate the roads as just a cut above the oxcart and horse and buggy for getting one about the country.

Doubtless the planes we know today will give place to flying machines that will make all current means of transportation obsolete but we are still a long way from that point and the railroads can still do a wonderful job for the public if given a chance.

We hope that Congress will heed the suggestions of the President and give the railroads such other relief as may be required to keep them in business.

We still need the railroads.

Spring Brings Road Troubles

We know it is a little early yet to be talking about street and highway repairs. Nothing much can be done about them until the frost works out of the ground, according to engineers, and the frost is quite deep this year.

We have had one of the coldest winters recorded in these parts and the ground has frozen for a depth of three to five feet, according to those who had to do some digging. We will have to have quite a number of warm days to get rid of the frost.

Until the frost is gone pavement patches will be but temporary. Some damage is to streets and highways is already apparent and no doubt there will be more. However, thanks to the repair programs undertaken last year by the state and the villages of the area there should be less work to be done this spring than last.

Last spring the roads were in such bad shape, especially the state highways in the area, that cars were damaged. Quite a number of motorists complained of cut tires and there were a few that reported broken axles.

It is to be hoped there will be no such complaints registered this year, that repairs will be made before the roads get that bad.

Bur Oak One Of Toughest Trees In Business Today

BY ROBERTS MANN

Conservation Editor

Cook Co. Forest Preserve

The state tree of Illinois is the "native oak". It should be the Bur Oak. As Aldo Leopold discerned: "When school children vote on a state bird, flower, or tree, they are not making a decision; they are merely ratifying history". Ergo when the first settlers gazed westward across the vast prairies of Illinois, bur oaks were the burly trees on knolls and ridges which stood like ships in a sea of grass.

Those oak openings, as they are called, were remarkable features of the tall grass prairies in Indiana, Illinois, and the prairie peninsulas that extended northward into Michigan and Wisconsin. Many early travelers wrote lyrical descriptions of those park-like openings "without a twig of underbrush" "...where deer grazed leisurely like sheep" "...so open that a cabriolet could have been driven through them for miles."

They existed because a bur oak is the only tree that can be swept by a roaring prairie fire and still live. It is insulated, even on the twigs, by a crust of corky bark. On the trunk of a huge patriarch its deeply furrowed bark may be four inches thick. On a sapling the stem, branches and twigs are covered with weird assortments of corky ridges and excrescences.

Altho most numerous in the Middle West, the bur oaks are distributed from Nova Scotia to Manitoba and south to Delaware, Tennessee and Central Texas. In Illinois it grows thruout the state -- probably in all of the 102 counties originally. Here in Cook county, and as a rule, it is most common on deep rich soils that are moist but well-drained. However, the species is surprisingly adaptable. It frequently flourishes on gravelly moraines and sandy ridges underlaid by water bearing strata and some of the largest bur oaks in Illinois -- giants more than 350 years old and 5 or 6 feet in diameter -- grew on such soils. On the other hand, in LaSalle and adjacent counties, bur oaks are found on dry uplands in company with hickories and white, red and black oaks.

This tree is one of the largest and, next to the white oak, most majestic of American oaks. Its stiff gnarled branches and stout, frequently crooked, branchlets with corky wings along them are distinctive. Ordinarily, it is seldom more than 80 feet high and 3 feet in diameter but, in favorable locations such as the Wabash river basin, giants 170 feet tall and 7 feet in diameter have been known. In a forest it develops a tall clear trunk, but, growing in the open, we have seen some with short massive trunks, huge lower branches almost horizontal, and a spread of 80 feet or more.

Its leaves, largest of all the oak leaves, are from 6 to 12 inches long, 3 to 6 inches broad in the upper portion, with from 5 to 7 lobes which, since it is a member of the white oak group, are rounded. The central lobes are separated by wide bays or sinuses that reach almost to the midrib. Those thick leaves are dark green above but silvery green and downy underneath. In autumn they become dull yellow or tan and, unlike other oaks, all drop off.

The Latin name for all oaks is QUERCUS. The scientific name for the bur oak is QUERCUS MACROCARPA, meaning large - fruited. The common names -- bur or mossy cup -- refer to its distinctive acorn. Egg-shaped and from 3/4 to 2 inches long, it is held in a deep scaly cup which has a fringe of elongated scales and sometimes covers more than half of the acorn. Its white kernel is sweet and edible.

The wood -- hard, strong, tough and close - grained -- is almost as heavy as white oak and equally valuable for many purposes such as lumber, veneers, furniture, interior trim and flooring. Because of its durability in contact with the soil, bur oak is frequently used for piling, railroad ties and structural material.

The Dan Ryan Expwy. Takes Toll Of Tollway Tolls

(CNS) Effect of the recent opening of the Dan Ryan Expressway on receipts of the Illinois Tollway was less in February than in January, according to the monthly report issued this week by Charles M. Burgess, chairman.

February showed a drop of 2.7 per cent, with $1,469,545 compared to $1,510,926 the same month in 1962.

For the first two months of 1963, the revenue figures were down 4.0 per cent, with a total for January and February of $2,998,016 compared with $3,123,205 in 1962.

Officials had expected that the loss of traffic to the new expressway which has a direct connection with the Calumet Skyway, would be largest the first month. The Dan Ryan Expressway was opened in mid-December.

One can figure it will be June before one can turn furnaces off and killing frosts sometimes occur in mid-May.

Did you ever stop to think that the autumn is the only season when one doesn't hear people griping because it is either too cold or too warm?

One hears such complaints voiced winter, spring and summer but most people seem to accept the fact the fall has its good days and its bad and shrug off either.

Another week and Spring is here -- officially. It would be nice to have it in reality -- but don't count on it.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

"... Can Spring be far behind?"

That is a question one hears at this time of year with increasing frequency. And in the voice of the questioner one usually detects a querulous note.

That is not surprising. It is only natural that after going thru a winter in these latitudes that one should be in a complaining mood and wondering how much more of it is to come.

Well, one might as well look at the bright side. Take the current winter for example. Was it a bad one?

Don't answer now and when you do watch your language. The little ones, you know. They pick up those kind of words very easily.

It has been cold. According to the weather bureau we have had more days of zero and sub-zero weather this year than we have encountered in a long, long time. And not only was it cold here but continental Europe and the British Isles have the same complaint. Our deep south also had its deep freeze moments this year so people everywhere there has been winter are wondering when the end will come.

We had some low temperatures alright, but not as low as recorded at the North and South Poles. Alright, you may say, it was colder at the North and South Poles. So what? Who is going to the North and South Poles?

And your correspondent must admit this is a good question. Who indeed is going to the North Pole or the South Pole? Some scientists or some submarine crews maybe but not the people next door or down the street.

It seems that most of the people we know who can afford to go anywhere in the winter go where it is warmer. We have yet to hear an acquaintance say, "Well, I am going to get out of this snow and cold and go down south to Little America where there really is some snow cold."

Your correspondent recalls having once read a book about one of Admiral Byrd's trips to the South Pole country. It told of a period when, as we recall it, the temperature was around zero inside the headquarters with the stoves going full blast. This was quite comfortable, the writer said, and the men could lounge around practically in what would pass for shirtsleeves. No one went out because the wind was too strong for anyone to retain his footing and it was around 100 or so degrees below zero.

We are ready to agree that the 20 below days we had this winter would be a heat wave in the course of a polar winter and our snowfall could be dismissed as a trace in a country where the depth of snow is measured in yards or miles, but to think that we could be in a worse spot doesn't keep our feet warm or make us feel any more comfortable.

Nor does it do us much good to hear from friends to the effect that where they are it is around 80 degrees and the water is warm enough to make swimming delightful. It may make us envious, but not more comfortable.

Most of us have to stay put. We have to take our winter where it finds us. If it is 20 below or 40 below or the mercury plays around just below freezing there is nothing we can do about it but wait for Spring or Summer.

Theoretically Spring is the season when the sunshine and the warm rains make things grow. Grass, plants, flowers and trees that have been asleep all winter awaken when they hear the command -- ally-up, and up they come.

Nature doesn't need too much encouragement to endeavor to do her part and as a result is sometimes misled when the calendar says Spring. A couple of days of sunshine with the temperatures around 70 is apt to bring out a rush of green things and then -- pow! A piercing wind comes suddenly down from the north, sending the temperatures tumbling before it, nipping the growing plants with a black frost. There is snow, cold rain and a bleak outlook that makes one think of November but the calendar insists it is Spring, so why not go along with it. Within reason, of course.

One can figure it will be June before one can turn furnaces off and killing frosts sometimes occur in mid-May.

Did you ever stop to think that the autumn is the only season when one doesn't hear people griping because it is either too cold or too warm?

One hears such complaints voiced winter, spring and summer but most people seem to accept the fact the fall has its good days and its bad and shrug off either.

Another week and Spring is here -- officially. It would be nice to have it in reality -- but don't count on it.

Letters To The Editor

WARNS OF FOES

Dear Sir:

Centuries before we learned to write and record the history of mankind and since, up to the present, there have been many great and powerful empires. There were periods of cultural advancement, prosperity, decline and eventual disintegration.

The earliest about which we know, were the Babylonian, Assyrian and Egyptian. These were responsible for much progress in agriculture, architecture and the sciences, the fundamentals of our modern civilization. As the centuries passed, other Empires rose, flourished and fell. In each and every case, the causes which brought about their falls, can be traced to one or perhaps a combination of the following.

(1) The military conquest by outside forces.

(2) Economic, political and/or moral decay within.

(3) Overthrow from internal groups.

(4) Excessive and/or confiscatory taxation.

Shall we, who are so fortunate as to be citizens of the world's most prosperous and powerful nation, the United States of America, allow a gang of "Absent minded professors" lead us to our doom? The route, which we are following is clearly marked, the warning signs are clearly visible and history teaches us that if we continue on this well worn path, our destination is the twin-cities, Ruin and Despair.

The cause of our fall, will be from forces within which are attempting to establish the welfare state and thereby wreck our Republic and turn it into a socialist form of government. Taxation is the weapon being used to divide the produce of the thrifty, ambitious and industrious with the shiftless and indolent.

Our ancestors earned and cherished the freedom which is our heritage. It is our responsibility to protect and preserve this for ourselves and the future generations. Continued freedom or absolute regimentation and the loss of our sovereignty, are the immediate issues which face us.

Will we continue to blindly elect men who will lead our nation down the one-way street to oblivion? Those who are ignorant of history and those who ignore it, are doomed to wear the yoke of Socialism and/or Communism. The "Republic wreckers" can be deposed, providing, the voter becomes better informed and casts his ballot for principles rather than a "party label".

If you like green beans, the new Executive variety, which resembles the Tendercrop variety, looks good. Other good bean varieties include the Tendergreen types or the Contender.

For beets, Detroit Dark Red is an excellent variety. You may also want to consider Ruby King, Ruby Queen, Crosby's Greentop, Red Ball or Fireball.

For best results with sweet corn, early varieties such as Golden Beauty, Gold Crest and Spring Gold look good.

at near-record pace".

Appliance firms are reporting very good demand in everything "from refrigerators to snow blowers, vacuum cleaners to washing machines. Moreover, a sampling of consumers shows that most intend to step up purchases this year". It is pointed out that the consumer is well able to increase demand for such commodities as there is a record volume of liquid savings on hand.

"Members of National Association of Purchasing Agents report that new orders in February outpaced output for the second successive month. The percentage of agents noting such a rise was, in fact, the highest since last April. Buyers also displayed an eagerness to get on the order books of suppliers early".

This stepping up of the buying pace is being reflected in firmer price structure. "In January, for the first time since May, the number of purchasing agents reporting higher prices topped those who noted a decline. The upturn persisted last month (February)".

Both Fortune and Barrons note greater spending on plant and equipment. Barrons notes that the stage was set for this by higher pre-tax profits "which may have been a 12-year high in the fourth quarter. Adding to their own zestful impact are liberalized depreciation allowances and the much publicized investment credit".

The chemical industry is expecting to spend 50 per cent more than in 1962, the railroads have been increasing orders for freight cars and diesels. Diesel replacements have been slow in recent years.

Barrons quotes S. J. Levy as a well known analyst who correctly called the downturn in 1960, but remained confident in 1962. He stated, "Almost every source of purchasing power and every type of expenditure that has a stimulating effect on the economy is maintaining its recent high level or increasing".

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

For some time Fortune magazine thru its Business Roundup column, has been predicting a very good business picture and with comment that business could well reach boom levels.

The March 4, 1963 issue of Barron's very well known financial weekly carries a front page article, titled, "Just Around the Corner - The Signs Point to Revival, not Recession".

It is no secret that the Administration spokesmen and those of the AFL-CIO, have been adamant in demanding an immediate tax cut as the alternative to severe retrogression in the business picture. Some of the financial writers in newspapers, etc. have been parroting these views. Tax cuts at time of national election, can be very helpful.

Barron's article notes, "In the admittedly chancy business of forecasting, neither organized labor or the Administration commands much honor as a prophet. In view of their record, indeed, such dour talk might even suggest to the skeptic that economic revival is just around the corner".

The article goes on to state that without encouragement from Washington, both businessmen and consumers are showing renewed confidence.

A number of analysts have noted that there had been a slowing down in last half of 1962 and that the major move is now upward.

"While Washington frets about a possible recession, the real danger today is a new burst of inflation. For despite official misgivings, the consumer is feeling no pain. Thru-out what may prove to have been the worst winter in a century, auto sales have hummed along

Many farm chemicals are poisonous, especially when they are in concentrated form. Store them in a safe, cool place under lock. Before you start using the chemicals, have antidotes ready in case of an accident.

Don't forget to check for broken tile this spring before you plow. Replace broken lengths carefully with good, new tile from a reputable manufacturer. Check outlets and junctions for washouts. A front-end loader and a hand shovel can move enough dirt for the job. Tamp carefully, and build up a dike or berm to prevent that washout from occurring again.

Individual farmers are growing more acres of cash-grain crops, such as corn, soybeans and wheat. They are reducing small-grain acreage wherever possible. They are reducing their legume and grass acreage even where large grain-consuming livestock programs exist. It is important for farmers to recognize that intensive crop rotations and high crop yields require more and better management.

Most individual farmers benefit by using needed fertilizers, whether farm commodity prices are high or low. If prices are low, the balanced fertility helps to minimize losses. If they

With more and more of the nation's children using school buses for transportation, the Chicago Motor Club offers these suggestions to parents and children to help them to achieve accident-free trips to and from classes.

---Youngsters should arrive at the bus stop in plenty of time to avoid rushing.

---Children should wait at a location well off the roadway.

---There should be no pushing or racing for seats while getting on or off the bus. Orderly students are less likely to get excited and forget the dangers of traffic.

---At no time should a child put his arms or head out of bus windows.

---Loud, boisterous activity and commotion should be avoided as it distracts the bus driver. Children should remain seated while the bus is in motion.

---All instructions from the bus driver should be followed carefully.

---If at all possible parents should accompany very young children to and from the bus stop. This is especially important if the child must cross streets or highways.

Motorists approaching school buses from either direction should be extremely alert for the unexpected actions of children who might dart into the street. On highways motorists are required to halt when school buses do.

Civic Association Plans
Another Dance In MayMRS. EDWARD HOVI
479-5740

The Arbury Hills Civic Association ran into its usual bugaboo at the March 5 meeting at the school, no quorum. An unofficial informal meeting held instead.

The proposed by-laws changes were discussed in detail, however no voting could be held for lack of a quorum.

It was decided that, because of the favorable response to the "Juke Dance" held Feb. 23, that a spring dance should be planned in May. A committee was formed with Jim Lillie and Fran Cronen as co-chairmen. The date for the dance has been tentatively set for May 18 pending approval of the hall.

Thru a lapse of the mind it was not announced last week that Bob Zay was the happy recipient of the special prize at the Juke Dance.

A gentle reminder to the members of the Civic Association, memberships are officially terminated as of April 1. The cost of the yearly dues remains at $3.

The meeting of the Arbury Hills Baby Sitters Cooperative to be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Hovi last week, was cancelled due to assorted illness in the Hovi household. The secretary's book, however, has been turned over to Mrs. Hovi from Mrs. Heim. Any member needing a sitter during March should contact Mrs. Hovi at least 24 hours in advance of the date needed. In addition, any woman in Arbury Hills who would be interested in joining the group can also contact Mrs. Hovi for particulars.

The next meeting of the Baby Sitters will take place at the home of Mrs. Richard Mansell of 9507 West Elm ave., on Wednesday evening, April 17, at 8 p.m. Anyone who plans on attending this meeting should contact Mrs. Mansell at 479-5772 before the day of the meeting.

The Summit Hill Parent-Teacher Group will have their March meeting tonight, Thursday, March 14. An interesting program has been prepared for this meeting. A panel discussion consisting of the two first grade teachers, the second grade teacher, and the third grade teacher, in addition to H. James Wrath, the superintendent of the school. The topic of the discussion will be "Teaching your child to read". Since this topic is of such importance, the business meeting will be short. There will be the appointing of a nominating committee for the up-coming elections.

The First Nighters held their monthly session at the home of Mrs. Charles Hecht of 9524 West Elm ave. last Thursday, March 7.

The winner of the hostesses prize was Mrs. Betty Fife.

The next meeting of the group will be at the home of Mrs. Elmer Schanz of 9505 West Hickory st. on Thursday evening, April 4, at 8:00 p.m.

"Look pleasant, please. You can resume your natural expression after I snap the picture."

The Brownie Scout Troops are beginning plans for their participation in the Girl Scout Rally to be held in the Joliet School Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, May 5.

The Teens Club met on Monday, March 11 at the school from 7:30 p.m. until 10 o'clock. The two chaperones for this meeting were Mrs. Clare LaRocca from Arbury Hills and Mrs. Donna Beem from the rural area.

The chaperones lined up for future meetings of the Teens Club are: March 25 chaperones; Mrs. Carlson of Tinley Gardens, and Mrs. Lee Ann Blecha of Arbury Hills. For the April 8 meeting chaperones; Archie Estes of Arbury Hills and Mrs. Richard Heim also of Arbury Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert of 9442 West Hickory st. spent a week in sunny Florida, at St. Petersburg. Kathy and Patti Burdett spent the week with their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kraybill of Brookfield. Bobby Burdett spent the school days with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hovi and the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Kraybill.

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten Organization will, hereafter, hold their membership meetings at the school. The next meeting of the group will be on April 3, a Wednesday, at 8:00 p.m. at the school.

A second reminder of the forthcoming Pre-Easter Hat Sale sponsored by the Kindergarten Organization. The hat sale, their second annual, will take place at the school on Friday evening, April 5. The exact time of the sale hours will be announced shortly.

LUXURY CAR: RIDES, RESPONDS AND LOOKS LIKE IT OUGHT TO COST A RANSOM

You're looking at our Impala Super Sport Convertible which, along with its cousin the Sport Coupe, absolutely embarrasses higher priced cars.

That special trim and those front bucket seats merely hint at the comforts you find built into every Impala Super Sport.

Performance? It's remarkable, an understatement we can afford when there are 7 engines to choose from. One of which is the popular 340-hp Turbo-Fire 409*, a wizard in traffic and a joy on the open road. And others all the way up to 425 hp*.

If you want an extra flourish or two, mull over extra-cost options like floor-shift four-speed manual or Powerglide transmission, Positraction, fade-resistant sintered-metallic brake linings, and a tachometer to relay what's cooking up front.

Just before you rush off to your Chevrolet dealer, may we remind you that both Impala Super Sports offer the new Comfortilt steering wheel*. You adjust it to suit your driving style, flick it out of the way for easy entry and exit.

All three Chevrolet series—Biscayne, Bel Air and Impala—deserve a long look. Super Sports demand it.

Super Sport equipment* available on both Impala Convertible and Sport Coupe.

All Brides Beautiful, Declares Photographer

Today's brides are more beautiful than ever, but few of them fully appreciate their own loveliness at their most eventful moment.

Many brides are too "shell shocked" from the emotional stress of the marriage ceremony to fully enjoy their wedding, and to remember lastingly their own special radiance at that time. The real and lasting enjoyment, according to Albert J. Behnke, of Arbury Hills comes afterwards from fond memories and made vivid by photographs.

Today's brides realize that the photographic record, which she will cherish all her life, is a vitally important part of the wedding itself.

This is one of the reasons pre-nuptial sittings have gained in popularity. It is impossible to photograph a hustled, harried girl and create a serene beautiful bride in a portrait. Here are a few DO'S and DON'TS to follow that will make the difference between an ordinary bridal portrait and family treasures that you will cherish forever:

DO'S

Sit erect, unless you want to be portrayed like a stalk of wilting celery.

Plan an extra hour or two of sleep the night before your portraits. (You will look your best when well rested.)

Give special attention to the fit of your bodice of the wedding gown. (Photographically it produces a petite appearance.)

Use liquid base makeup in shades close to your own natural skin tones.

Follow the natural arch of the brows should eyebrow pencil be necessary. Use short light strokes and a soft lead pencil to fill in at the end of the brow for more natural results.

Have a clean lipstick line, using a lipstick brush and going into the inside corner of the mouth.

Use a slight application of mascara to the upper and outer lower lashes.

Comb hair ends thoroughly and control loose ends with a light spray.

The Professional Photographers of America, Inc., suggests you select your photographer carefully by viewing samples of his type work. If you have preference in posing and lighting, tell him. While he's an expert, he'd prefer to spend his efforts giving you the type of poses you prefer. Above all, sit tall portray your womanly virtues, elegance, grace, charm, and dignity. Don't look like a casualty on your wedding day.

DON'TS

Suffer standing in new shoes unless you have a short dress.

Lie on the beach or under a

Commonwealth Edison Co. had increased sales and earnings in 1962, J. Harris Ward, Chairman and President said in the utility's annual report just issued.

Net income in 1962 was $88,470,223, equal after allowance for preferred dividends to $2.16 a share on the common stock. This compares with $82,663,694 and $2.01 a share in 1961.

Operating revenues in 1962 totaled $520,156,122 compared with $492,242,032 in 1961.

"Our improved earnings in 1962," said Mr. Ward, "resulted chiefly from greater sales, increased operating efficiency, close control of expenses and redemption of two preferred stock issues. We believe that our business in 1963 will show increases over 1962 in kilowatt-hour sales, revenues and per share earnings."

Kilowatt-hour sales in 1962 passed the 25 billion mark and 8.7 per cent higher than in 1961. Increases were noted in all major customer classes, including residential, 6.4%; small commercial and industrial, 9.3%.

Mr. Ward said that in 1962 there was an acceleration of the "total - electric" trend which was helped by the adoption last March of lower rates to promote electric cooking, water heating and space heating. He said approximately 6000 customers are using electricity to heat their homes.

Commonwealth's 1962 provisions for federal, state and local taxes were $142,851,911, an increase of $3,503,680 over 1961. The total, amounting to 27% of each revenue dollar was equal to $3.53 per share of common stock and exceeded the company's 1962 payroll by $35,700,000.

Expenditures for new construction in 1962 were $117,865,598 and the utility estimates it will spend $640,000,000 for new construction during the five years 1963 through 1967.

Barring unforeseen developments, the company expects to be able to finance the five-year construction program without public financing. Funds would come from cash on hand at the end of 1962, plus cash to be provided during the period from depreciation accruals, deferred income taxes, earnings not distributed in cash and other sources, including the new investment tax credit.

Unless you have a unusual gloss, no powder is advisable for it dulls the skin (Good facial highlights are essential to a fine bridal portrait.)

Expect good results if you fill in full lower lip, while leaving a thin upper lip.

Have your hair in the latest high style hairdo, unless it's really you, (You'll be more apt to still like your portraits some years hence.)

The Legion Marches On

Forty-four years ago, come March 13, a handful of war-weary but victorious World War I fighters gathered at le Cirque de Paris in the French capital and associated themselves together "for God and Country" in what came to be the largest and most influential organization of war veterans in history.

Today, the American Legion will celebrate its 44th birthday with a 1963 enrollment which is running well ahead of 1962, in spite of the fact that death now claims about 55,000 Legionnaires (largely from among the WW I founders) each year. It is thus apparent that veterans of WW II and Korea continue to join at a rate that more than compensates for the Reaper's scythe.

The central theme of the 1963 birthday party in the thousands of posts in the 50 states, in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, on American bases and in various cities around the world will be an "American Legion Showcase" of the four programs to which the founders dedicated themselves so long ago. These are: Americanism, child welfare, rehabilitation and national security — goals that may never be completely attained, but which will be fought for and advanced by the Legion in war and in peace, so long as that body exists.

National Commander James E. Powers who has endorsed the "Showcase" as an effective means of parading the continuing serious work and accomplishments of the Legion, has suggested also that there are eligible men and women in every community who have never joined the Legion, and that every post can make this anniversary memorable by inviting such people to membership and holding a special Initiation Party.

We know there are some fine people in this community who are veterans and are not members. And we suspect that in many cases, this may be simply because no one ever thought to invite them personally and individually, to join these distinguished, public-spirited ranks.

We congratulate the American Legion and our own local post on this occasion, and share Commander Powers' conviction that none should be overlooked who can add further drive and enthusiasm and lustre to this enduring crusade for God and Country.

Own Stock? Savings?

They Want Your Number

Do you own securities or have a savings account?

If so, you are going to be requested by the organizations paying you dividends or interest to furnish them your federal tax account number, E.C. Coyle, Jr., Director of Internal Revenue for Chicago, said today.

For an individual, this is his social security number, or a similar number assigned for tax purposes.

Some corporations and savings institutions already have asked their shareholders or depositors for their numbers. Others will make such requests in the next few months in order to comply with a new law requiring use of the account numbers of income recipients on information reports to Internal Revenue.

Mr. Coyle emphasized that the law requires the payee to supply his number to the payer when asked for it.

Requests for account numbers should be honored promptly in order to facilitate book-keeping changes by the paying organizations.

Any shareholder or depositor who does not have a social security number should follow the instructions for obtaining an account number included with the request form.

The account number also must be shown on income tax returns filed for 1962 and subsequent years.

Dope Raid

(CNS) — Sheriff's officers led by Richard Cain, chief investigator, swooped down on a house in Robbins, at 3641 W. 135th Street in a narcotics raid and found Jerry Sartin, 34, a resident, starting to burn up an estimated $5,000 in cash.

Cain said, "It was a waste of good money. We had no idea he had the money at all and certainly didn't mark any."

Sheriff's officers said that when they burst into the house, Bank still had a needle in his arm. Confiscated was a "dope factory" including needles, spoons and approximately three ounces of heroin.
